A man with a method

■ CARLOS HANK RHON

Upon graduating from college, like any other young person, Carlos Hank Rhon had various opportunities before him. He was already an engineer and could have pursued his profession: “But I realized that engineering was not my passion. Beyond his political career, my father was an entrepreneur, and from a young age I had the opportunity to learn how a company worked, its challenges, and its opportunities. I am passionate about business.”

“At the end of each year, I sit alone at my desk to evaluate what goals I have achieved and set those for the coming year.”

Family man

But a man cannot simply be an entrepreneur. Engineer Hank Rhon is, at heart, a family man. "Without a doubt, I have done everything I have done with pleasure, because being an entrepreneur is my passion. But deep down, when I think about it, I have also done it for my family; to leave a legacy to my loved ones, something they can be proud of and that they can grow even more in the future. That has always been my dream and, ultimately, the reason for my plans, my effort, and my dedication to work."

From his marriage to Graciela González Moreno, daughter of legendary entrepreneur Roberto González Moreno, founder of Gruma and Grupo Financiero Banorte, he has three children:

Carlos, Graciela, and Alejandro.

"I raised my children with principles, teaching them the importance of family and work, helping them build character so they could be happy and successful people. I believe this is the best contribution I can make to my family."

A Philosophy

"I have worked my entire life with order, giving my best and putting my heart into every project, surrounding myself with capable people who have contributed to the success of the Groups, working together with pride and confidence. Without a doubt, the greatest satisfaction is seeing my colleagues grow and improve the quality of life of their families."

Carlos Hank Rhon quotes

CARLOS HANK

“The struggle will be tough, perhaps difficult for some of us, but in the long term, increased competition will be positive for Mexico. We will be more productive, more efficient, and this will result in greater growth for the national economy and better prices and quality of products for consumers.”

“We Mexicans know how to do things well, and we must take advantage of opportunities. We must prepare ourselves and help each other.”
